- (c)(5) Description of the defect: Excess heat shrink used to protect the diode on brake and cruise control signal diode jumpers may prevent the connector(s) from fully locking in place, potentially allowing the connector(s) to come loose over time resulting in an intermittent or continuous open circuit. Two separate circuits are potentially affected: one circuit disengages the cruise control with brake pedal activation, and the other circuit illuminates the brake lights with brake pedal application.

49CFR Section 577.5(f) Evaluation of the risk to motor vehicle safety: Failure of the cruise control to disengage, or of the brake lights to illuminate when the brake pedal is depressed may lead to a crash.

- (c)(6) Chronology of principal events: September 2012 – loose brake diode connections were identified during the manufacturing process. DTNA conducted an analysis to identify the root cause and determine if this was an isolated or systemic issue. November 21, 2012 DTNA decided to conduct a voluntary safety campaign.

- (c)(7) Noncompliance-test or other data:

- (c)(8) (i) Remedial program: Potentially affected vehicles will be inspected to ensure the locking tabs on the diode jumpers are fully engaged and locked in place. Repairs will be performed by Daimler Trucks North America authorized service facilities.
